June 30, 2024

Looking Towards Sunday

The sermon for this coming Sunday is entitled: Dealing with Dis-ease and Disaster. I know that doesn't sound like an easy, breezy subject to start off the summer. I know. Let me explain.

The sermon is inspired by Mark 5:21-43 which describes two healing stories. A man named Jairus had a daughter who was near death; and he implored Jesus to make her well. While Jesus was on his way to help Jairus, he was approached by a woman who had been suffering for a long time. She had heard about Jesus; and she had a feeling that he could relieve her pain. Spoiler Alert: Jesus healed the woman...and revived Jairus' daughter too.

As you might imagine, the stories contain several important details that deserve discussion, most especially the faith of the two who sought the Savior's life-saving power. I'll say more when I see you.

Don't forget that worship starts at 9:00am. Also, dress comfortably. Oh, and we've ordered fans (the pedestal and paper kind) – they arrive mid-week next week.

Be blessed. Bless somebody.

Rev. Fredd

Monday Matinees at the JPW Library

The Transformative Power of Music

All showings are at 2 p.m. in the JPW Library

- July 1 This Monday! Summer of Soul \(...Or, When the Revolution Could Not Be Televised\), 2021
Running time: 1h 58m
Part music film, part historical record created around an epic event that celebrated Black history, culture, and fashion. Over the course of six weeks in the summer of 1969, just 100 miles south of Woodstock, The Harlem Cultural Festival was filmed in Mount Morris Park (now Marcus Garvey Park). The footage was never seen and largely forgotten--until now.
- July 15 The Music of Strangers: Yo-Yo Ma & the Silk Road Ensemble, 2015 - Running time: 1h 36m
Offers a thrilling and too-rare glimpse of art's power to bridge personal and cultural divides. As one musician says, "a piece of music can't stop a bullet," but this engaging film is a vote for culture, a vote against xenophobia.
- July 29 Young at Heart, 2007 - Running time: 1h 47m
Documentary about a choir of senior citizens from New England who perform, with vigor and unabashed enthusiasm, rock and pop classics along the lines of Sonic Youth's "Schizophrenia" and Talking Heads' "Life During Wartime."
