

Sunday Notes

First Church Happenings for the week of March 15, 2026

Sunday Worship

Loved ones:

You've read the Happenings announcement about the Dialogue Circles with Master of Arts in International Peacebuilding (MAP) students from HIU. I've underscored it from the pulpit and encouraged you to participate this coming Sunday. Here's a final call. I believe that we're living in a moment wherein wisdom compels us to consider who we are in terms of our public witness and our response to matters of social justice. To that end, the students will help us wrestle with this spacious question: "What does it mean to live out our faith in the world?"

The sermon (based on selected verses from Ephesians) should serve as a conversation starter. It's about living as children of light and "trying to find out what is pleasing to [God]." I'll say more when I see you.

Be well meantime!

Let's Go to The Mountaintop – A Theater Invitation from Rev. Fredd

April 3, 1968. An exhausted Martin Luther King Jr. retires to his room at the Lorraine Motel in Memphis after an unscheduled address to striking sanitation workers. A mysterious young maid named Camae delivers room service. They engage in humorous conversation – a chance encounter that develops into a soul-searching discussion about their mutual hopes and fears. When Camae reveals a secret, Dr. King is compelled to confront his destiny and legacy. I've reserved ten seats ($50.00 per) at The Playhouse on Park for the March 22nd 2:00pm closing performance of this Olivier Award-winning play written and directed by Pulitzer Prize winner Katori Hall. Join me for the show and talk back with the cast following the show! Interested? See me.

Exploring Scripture

Please join us on Sunday, March 15, from 9:00 AM - 9:45 AM in the J.P. Webster Library for coffee, when we will continue to explore interesting scripture: What is the message, and how can we relate its message to each of our lives? The scriptural text this next week will be John 1-41 to John 1-12. I've been away for several weeks and want to thank Michael Protos and Molly Bohman for filling in for me. Please join us and bring a friend. There are never any right or wrong questions or answers. Joe, Rev. Joseph Tobin

New Book Club: A guided tour of early Christianity

Grab your explorer's hat and get ready to adventure into the world of those who walked with Jesus, talked about him and wondered what was going on with this new group of devoted Jesus people. How does history written over the course of 2,000 years inform our beliefs today? Join Michael Protos for this new book group on every other Wednesday at 6:45 p.m., starting on March 11 in the Youth Room (near the auditorium). We'll embark on a path that allows you to jump in and jump out based on your availability without feeling out of touch with the discussion. Child care will be available for parents who would like to attend and need a hand! Kindly sign up at this GOOGLE FORM or reach out to Michael.

March Madness Volunteer Opportunity: Levo International

Food insecurity is a major issue for Connecticut families, particularly in urban settings. A food desert is an area that lacks access to healthy food, particularly fresh produce. The city of Hartford ranks as the 8th worst food desert in the country based on USDA data. Levo's hydroponics model turns vacant land into highly productive agricultural space. Hydroponics is an affordable and practical way of growing fresh produce in almost any setting. These neighborhood farms produce food that employs local community members as well as increasing food access. Levo's goal is to reach one million pounds of vegetables grown in Hartford by 2028. Join us for a hands-on volunteer event dedicated to revitalizing a space for sustainable food production! Help us start building systems at our new Enfield lot. We need your help to make it happen! Located at 280 Enfield St, Hartford, CT Dates: Saturday March 14, 21, 28 & Tuesday March 10 & 31 Gather friends & sign up here: <https://levointernational.org/volunteer>

Invitation to Hear about Levo International's Neighborhood Farms

Are you Curious about hydroponic gardening and Levo International in Hartford? A Levo staff member will be speaking here on Monday, April 6 at 1:00 in the auditorium. Levo's hydroponic gardens turn vacant land into agricultural space which produces affordable fresh produce and employment for city residents. These neighborhood farms also increase much needed easy access to fresh vegetables. The Mountain Valley Garden Club has engaged the Levo staff member for their meeting and is happy to have First Churchers join their meeting on Monday April 6, 1:00pm, auditorium. Please RSVP on or before Monday, Mar 23 to Nancy Ball via text or email: 860-966-9337, shoedog1961@gmail.com

Dialogue Circles, Sunday, March 15 at 11:15am in the Fellowship Room

You're invited to participate in Dialogue Circles with Master of Arts in International Peacebuilding (MAP) students from HIU (Hartford International University for Religion and Peace). The conversations are conducted as part of the MAP curriculum. Students are training to become community change agents by developing proficiency in conflict transformation and fluency in the religious traditions of Christianity, Islam, and Judaism. The ability to facilitate productive conversation is a critical skill for MAP students and all peace builders. Which is why your participation matters. We'll form break-out groups to consider this question: "What does it mean to live out our faith in the world?" The goal is to get 20-25 participants. The hope is that all who join the circles will gain insights and be inspired! Please register here: <https://whfirstchurch.ccbchurch.com/goto/forms/370/responses/new>

Days for Girls, Simsbury Chapter

Simsbury United Methodist Church (799 Hopmeadow St., Simsbury, CT 06070)

Annex Next to Playground. Second Saturdays 9 a.m. - Noon

Join a Days for Girls workshop and help with sewing or non-sewing tasks on the second Saturday of each month.

Bring your own machine if you can; otherwise show up ready to cut, sew, serge, and assemble. Plenty of opportunities to help!

The Days for Girls Simsbury Team makes sustainable menstrual kits that, along with appropriate health education materials, are distributed to schools, missions, and clinics around the world. Women and girls in many countries stay home from work or school one week per month during their menstrual period due to a simple lack of hygiene products. When women cannot tend to school, work, or familial responsibilities because of period poverty, the impact falls on their families, communities, and nations. Help make a difference! Please see Doey Barnett for more information or contact Doey at doeybarnett115@gmail.com.

Lunch & Learn: Navigating the "Goo Stage" with Stephanie Simpson, MA, MFA, PCC with Stephanie Simpson Next Sunday! March 22 from 11:30-1:30 in the JPW Library Register here

Feeling overwhelmed? You're not alone. Ongoing life changes—at work, in relationships, with health, or in daily routines—can add up quickly. During times of transition and uncertainty, many of us find ourselves in the "Goo Stage": the in-between space where old ways no longer fit, new ones haven't formed yet, and things can feel messy, unclear, or unstable.

This free 2-hour interactive workshop offers a supportive pause—a low-pressure space to slow down and orient to what's shifting, without needing answers or feeling pressure to fix anything. Through guided reflection, structured discussion, and small-group conversations, you'll explore the changes you're navigating, how the "Goo Stage" may be showing up in your life, and learn simple, practical tools to stay grounded and care for yourself and others during times of transition. A light lunch will be served.
